Product category, yarn preference, construction, sizes, artwork, labels and packing are reviewed together for your brand. Share a complete specification or identify the choices that still need development.

Sampling

The sample fee is credited against your first production order. Sample preparation time is determined in the quotation. Bulk production should refer to the approved sample, current product specification and packing version.

Order planning

The starting minimum is 500 pairs. Design, colour and size allocation is confirmed during quotation. Monthly capacity describes production capability; order availability and delivery dates depend on the agreed project and schedule.

Quality and supporting documents

Ask for current certificate copies, audit information, product scope and any agreed test or inspection requirements. Confirm which documents apply to your chosen material and destination before approving claims or placing an order.

Your next step

Use the fillable manufacturing brief or the website inquiry form. PDF and image references can be attached to the inquiry. Exact pricing, sample timing, production planning and delivery terms are reviewed by the sales team.
